Office of Town Clerk,
Adolphustown, Ont.

Gentlemen,

Would you please forward me the name and address of your local historian or pass this letter on to some one who could furnish me with the desired information?

I have been informed that the Vanderburgh or Van Der Burgh family came to the Bay of Quinte district in 1784 with Major Harmanus Van Alstyne, the father of John Vanderburgh's wife, Eva.

Perhaps some one could give me the names of historical publications or newspapers carrying accounts of celebrations, which have been held in the area.

Thanking you for your interest I remain,
Yours truly

(Mrs Harry) Oread Vanderburgh

Allanburg. Ont.

Dr. H. C. Burleigh
Bath, Ont.

Dear Dr. Burleigh;

At the time I received your letter containing information I had been seeking for some time, my husband suffered a heart attack and so all historical research was forgotten for a while. But as he has recovered and back at work, I have again resumed the seemingly endless task of the quest after facts.

Of course it is quite a task to separate history from hearsay and your letter was the first one which informed me as to Major Van Alstyne's first name.

I feel sure, that he might be a brother or some close relative of Harmanus' because the Vanderburghs are supposed to have come to Niagara district via Bay of Quinte. I would greatly appreciate any additional information about Major Peter such as the year of his birth, names of wife and children.

Even negative information such as the facts you gave me concerning Ganett

Vanderburgh has <sup>(2)</sup> a certain value as it eliminates one more of that name.

I am quite interested in securing the books you mentioned as my mother's people, the Kewalls of French Huguenot descent were near Naperville at one time. I think the village was called Silby.

Another reason is that we are building a summer cottage on Lake Skookamalle in Angouss Township, Lewis and Addison Co.
and we expect to spend some time in that district during the summer.

At a risk of appearing uninformed, where could I go to examine the Land Books of Ontario? I presume that they are available at the Provincial Archives in Toronto. There were also Land
Certificates issued by the Quebec Land
Board prior to the granting of Crown patents.

Thanking you for your help

I remain
Yours sincerely
Orest Vanderburgh

Mrs. Harry Vanderburgh, Allenburg, Ont.

Dear Mrs. Vanderburgh:

Your letter of Jan. 8, 1959, addressed to the Town Clerk of Adolphustown has been passed to me for reply. This action was taken because I am reputed to be the historian of the Bay of Quinte district.

Garrett Vanderburgh, a soldier in the 2nd Battalion of the King's Royal Regiment of New York (Sir John Johnson's), settled in Richmond Township, of this County, some time after 1784. He was here in 1796. He is shown in the Haldimand Papers, in 1783, as having three daughters, without mention of a wife. The failure to show his wife may be an error in transcription. The U. E. List, of 1796, states that he had a wife and three children. Two of his daughters, Elizabeth, wife of John German, of Richmond

Mary, wife of Cornelius (?) Oliver, of Richmond applied for lands at his daughters. The third daughter may have been Sarah Vandenberg, wife of Barnhart Viele, whose son, Barnhart, was born June 3, 1803. There were no known sons of Garrett Vanderburgh.

There was no Major Harmanus Van Alstyne in this region in 1784. Major Peter Van Alstyne led the group of Loyalists who settled in Adolphustown in 1784, but he did not have a daughter, Eva. There was no Harmanus Van Alstyne among our Loyalist settlers. I imagine that the family of which you seek settled in the Niagara district. The Land Books of Ontario show that Cornelius and Eve Vanderburgh applied for land, he as a settler in 1797, and she as the daughter of a Loyalist. As these two people did not settle here, I am assuming that they came into Niagara district.

The following histories pertain to the Bay of Quinte area:

Early Settlement of Upper Canada, by Camiff.

Pioneer Life on the Bay of Quinte, 1904, which does not mention Vanderburgh.

History of Lennox & Addington County, by Herrington.

There was a centennial celebration here in 1884, of which accounts appear in the newspapers of that time. There was also a celebration in Belleville in 1924, the 150th anniversary of the landing of the Loyalists on the Bay of Quinte. Story of this would be found in the Belleville papers, the Ontario and the Intelligencer.

I am sorry that I cannot supply you with any further information.

Yours sincerely,

H. C. Burleigh.

Dear Mrs. Vanderburgh:

Your letter of Jan. 8, 1929, addressed to the Town Clerk of Alphonston has been passed to me for reply. This action was taken because I am reputed to be the historian of the Bay of Quinte district.

Gerrit Vanderburgh, a soldier in the 2nd Battalion of the King's Royal Regiment of New York (Sir John Johnson's), settled in Richmond Township of this County, some time after 1760. He was here in 1796. He is shown in the Haldimand Papers, in 1793, as having three daughters, without mention of a wife. The failure to show his wife may be an error in transcription. The U. S. List, of 1796, states that he had a wife and three children. Two of his daughters, Elizabeth, wife of John Gorman, of Richmond, and Mary, wife of Cornelius (?) Oliver, of Richmond, applied for lands as his daughters. The third daughter may have been Sarah Vanderburgh, wife of Nathaniel Wolfe, whose son, Nathaniel, was born June 3, 1803. There were no known sons of Gerrit Vanderburgh.

There was no Major Hermann Van Alsteyn in this region in 1760. Major Peter Van Alsteyn led the group of loyalists who settled in Alphonston in 1784, but he did not have a daughter, even. There was no Hermann Van Alsteyn among our loyalist settlers. I imagine that the family of which you seek settled in the Niagara district. The Land Book of Ontario shows that Cornelius and Eve Vanderburgh applied for land, he as a settler in 1797, and she as the daughter of a loyalist. As these two people did not settle here, I am assuming that they came into Niagara district.

The following histories pertain to the Bay of Quinte:

2281

Early Settlement of Upper Canada, by Gerrit.
Hudson's Bay on the Bay of Quinte, 1900, which does not mention Vanderburgh.
History of Lanark & Algonquin Counties, by Richardson.
There was a centennial celebration here in 1881, of which accounts appear in the newspapers of that time. There was also a celebration in Belleville in 1921, the 150th anniversary of the landing of the loyalists on the Bay of Quinte. Story of this would be found in the Belleville papers, the Ontario and the Intelligence.

I am sorry that I cannot supply you with any further information.

Yours sincerely,

E. C. Burleigh.
